9. This will take you back to the Drag-and-Drop screen that we saw before. Now drag the photo you selected into an open spot on the right. In this case, if the 3rd image you wanted was in the same gallery, click 'More Photos' and drag it into the 3rd and last spot. If you want to go to yet another gallery, just click 'Save' in the lower right. It won't take you to the cart, but just leave you in the site. You can then navigate to another gallery, select an image, hover over the 'Buy' button, select 'Add 1 photo to ....' and drag it into the last spot.

11. To view the shopping cart, just hover the mouse (no click) over 'Cart' in the very upper right of the screen. It will drop down a box as below. Click on 'View Cart':

12. You now have 3 options:

- Continue Shopping – the photographer's favorite choice! :-)
- Checkout Now – to pay and complete your transaction
- Clear Cart – the photographer's least favorite choice! But it's good for practicing this process. I used it quite a bit in preparing this document.

The reason I say not to change the quantity is that it doesn't make much sense to download an image twice! Plus, if you really wanted 6 different photos, you can select the '6 Digital Download' item and get them for $50, not $60. Obviously, the best unit price is for 12 downloads for $75. But I tried to give several choices for folks that didn't want that many.
